

A newborn baby is lying on its side on a thick, white, shaggy rug. The baby is facing left, with its head slightly tilted down. Its eyes are closed, and it has a peaceful expression. The baby's skin is a light, warm tone. Its arms are bent, with hands resting near its chest and stomach. Its legs are also bent, with feet tucked up towards the belly. The rug is very soft and voluminous, filling the entire background of the image. The lighting is soft and even, highlighting the texture of the rug and the baby's features.
